The mob at Cincinnati shows the necessity for a more perfect organization of the state militia. The militia should be made so effective that riots like the one at Cincinnati would be an impossibility.

Hahn, an employee of Plankinton & Armour, was injured working in their new building in Kansas city and got a $7,000 verdict. The case is now in the United States supreme court on appeal.

A new enterprise just organized in the South by New Englanders is the Virginia Iron Ship-building company, which, with a capital of $1,000,000, will build iron and steel ships at Alexandria.

J. J. Green, editor of the Le Sueur Sentinel is able and fearless. Lately he has been waging a vigorous and relentless war on the dens for gambling and prostitution in his city. On Monday he received a cowardly blow from what is alleged to be a paramour of one gambler. Le Sueur will now have an opportunity to show whether it has any appreciation of a man who is manfully trying to redeem the place from vice.

Fredric Jones was released in Chicago, the other day, from the charge of stealing $40,000 worth of other valuables, on the ground that the evidence consisted only of telegraph, and they were insufficient.

Capt. Eads has informed Director General Burke, of the world's exposition, New Orleans, that the Great Eastern steamer can be had for the exposition. Correspondence is now passing looking to bringing the great ship there.

No cotton mills in the South have shut down, and no reduction of wages have been made in this section as yet. The main question with manufactures will be whether to lessen production by working fewer hours, or whether to lower wages.

The largest European mail ever dispatched from the New York postoffice was forwarded by the steamship Elder, for Southampton and Bremen. It consisted of 399 letter 226 newspaper bags. Three hundred and fifty-eight bags contained 156,236 letter and 8,000 registered articles.

L. Phillips, one of the Cincinnati jurymen in the Berner murder trial, is residing at the residence of his mother-in-law, at 718 Market street, St. Louis. He was married to the woman's daughter six months ago, and the couple arrived there last Sunday morning from Cincinnati. Phillips will remain until the excitement has blown over.

The forest fires now raging in both North and South Carolina bid fair to result most ruinously for lumber and turpentine industries of those states. As yet the full extent of the damage cannot be estimated, but from all accounts it must be very great. At present the people are engaged in fighting the flames and it is to be hoped that a further spread may be prevented.

A meeting Monday of all organizations of house building mechanics in New Orleans approved the action of the carpenters' union in striking for $3 a day, and all agree to quit work to-day, provided bosses refuse to pay wages demanded by carpenters.

At a Mormon Dance. I have attended parties of both sects. The Mormon party was chiefly distinguishable for the abundance of its pretty young girls, and the rather large proportion of elderly and grey-headed escorts while the scarcity of middle aged woman and the small proportion of young men seemed conspicuous.

The appearance of a blooming little Mormon beauty, scarcely into her teens whirling through a passionate waltz in the close embrace of a fire-eyed old grandfather, in who the fires had no right to lurk, struck me as singularly unpoetical. A friend has likened it to the appearance of a snow storm on a sunny July day. It is one of the famous "beauties of polygamy," this blending of winter and summer.

The girls have grown accustomed to it and generally accept their aged partners gracefully. The old fellows themselves seem never to grow rusty. They fall as mauldlinly in love at 80 as they did at 18 and their watery eyes gloat over the soft complexions of their fair companions with all the appreciation of a connoisseur in the art of "mashing," and their exalted position in the ranks of faithful serve of time to make them dangerous rivals of any youthful Adonis who may venture to enter the lists against them. At the Gentile party which I attended, a masquerade, I was amused by the character assumed by one of the male maskers, aided by a half-dozen feminine companions. He impersonated an old rustic Mormon and the girls figured as his six wives of six different degrees of age, from 13 up to 50, and of six different styles of beauty—a blue-eyed school-girl, an uncouth German peasant called a sparkling brunette of petite form, a buxom Scottish Highland lassie, a strong minded, strong featured, vinegary-browed dame of 40 and a gray-haired matron.—Ex.

SENATE AND HOUSE.

Our Men in Congress and the Measures They Propose.

Bills Introduced, Amendments Offered, Resolutions Adopted, Memorials Presented and Discussions Indulged in.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 31.—In the senate, the chair presented a communication from the attorney general, stating that his force of employees was too small to supply properly the voluminous papers called for, and asking for more help. Favorable reports were made on bills for the erection of public buildings at Chattanooga, Opelousa, and Portland. A petition was presented asking compensation of $2,000 for the loss of property destroyed in the Cheyenne raid of 1878. Mr. Platt explained the provisions of his bill to organize the patent office in separate departments. David J. Brewer was confirmed as judge of the Eighth district.

In the house, the committee on public health reported back a resolution directing an investigation as to the adulteration of food and drugs as not within the province of congress; but it was recommitted, by a vote of 117 to 116. A resolution was offered by Mr. Nichols, requesting the Sherman committee of the senate to inquire into the circumstances of the riot at Cincinnati. Bills were introduced to grant right of way through the Indian territory for the Pacific and Great Eastern roads; to make Oakland, Cal., a port of delivery; to repeal the internal revenue tax on tobacco and the distillation of apples and peaches; to equalize the taxation of foreign and domestic insurance companies, and to appropriate $100,000 for surveys by the U. S. Geological Survey. Mr. Smalls was sworn in as a member from South Carolina. Mr. Blair led the debate on the trade-dollars bill, and urged the unlimited coinage of silver.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 1.—In the senate, a memorial was presented from William Webster, an American citizen, asking to be secured in the ownership of a half million acres of land in New Zealand bought from native chiefs before the British took possession. A bill was reported for ascertaining the expense incurred by Idaho territory in suppressing the Bannock and Nez Perce outbreaks. Bills were introduced to regulate the letting of mail contracts in Alaska, and to make gold and silver certificates legal tender. The bill for the relief of the Jeannette survivors was passed. Coke moved against the education bill, and Grant and Deale were tendered the courtesy of the floor.

In the house of representatives bills were favorably reported for the naturalization of the descendants of aliens who served honorably in the army, authorizing the service of processes of Federal courts within the limits of Indian reservations; to provide for the inspection of live stock, hog products, and dressed meats; to forfeit the Marquette and Ontonagon land grant; to prohibit contracts for the labor of federal prisoners, and to pay government employees wages withheld in violation of the eight-hour law. The bill to redeem the trade dollars was passed, by 180 to 46, after the creation of the fourth section, which provided that they should be counted in the compulsory coinage. The special committee appointed to investigate the charges made by ex-Speaker Keifer against H. V. Boynton reported that they were not sustained by the evidence.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 2.—In the senate, the chair presented corrected credentials of Henry B. Payne as senator from Ohio. A resolution was offered looking toward reference to an umpire of the question whether the treaty of 1819 with Spain has been fully carried out by the United States. Bills were passed to refer to the court of claims the bill of William G. Ford of Memphis, for fifty bales of cotton seized by the government in 1865, and to refund to John F. Walworth $2,380 for a seizure by Gen. Banks at New Orleans. The unusual debate on the education bill closed the session.

In the house of representatives, a memorial from bondholders of the Northern Pacific road was presented, praying to be heard before the public lands committee in regard to the proposed forfeiture. A recess of fifteen minutes was taken to receive Gen. Grant, who leaned on a crutch at the clerk's desk and was introduced to members by Speaker Carlisle. A message from the president was received, recommending an appropriation of $100,000 for the protection of levees on the lower Mississippi.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 3.—In the senate, Wilson presented a joint resolution of the legislature of Iowa, asking immediate steps to recover unearned portions of railroad land grants. A petition was received from 5,000 citizens of the western states, asking for a pension of at least $8 in money for each honorably discharged soldier and sailor of the late war. Favorable reports were made on bills to erect a public building at Sacramento and to authorize the bridging of the Cumberland and Nashville and the Missouri and White. The library committee was instructed to inquire into the expediency of purchasing from the Lewis family the sword worn by Washington when he resigned his commission. When the education bill came up, Pendleton opposed it, Beck made a political speech, Williams advocated the measure, and Hoar and Harrison outlined amendments which they propose to introduce.

The house of representatives adopted a joint resolution authorizing the loan of flags and bunting for the fair at Richmond in aid of disabled Confederate veterans. The secretary of the interior was authorized to inquire into the massacre of Dr. Marcus Whitman and others in Oregon in 1847. Forty-six pages of the Indian appropriation bill were disposed of.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 4.—In the senate, a bill was reported for the appointment of a commission to mark the boundary line between Indian Territory and Texas. Logan presented a petition from the Chicago board of trade against the further coinage of silver dollars. The education bill introduced a bill to authorize the reappointment and retirement of disabled officers honorably discharged from the regular army. Jonas submitted a joint resolution making it a felony to receive $100,000 for the protection of levees on the lower Mississippi. Speeches on the education bill were made by Bayard, Gibson and Morgan. Butler will propose an amendment that the money required shall be raised by a direct annual tax on the states.

In the house a bill was reported to provide for the adjustment of congressional land grants within the borders of Kansas. The Indian appropriation bill was passed. An evening session was held for the consideration of pension bills.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 5.—In the senate bills were reported for the erection of public buildings at Dayton and Springfield, Ohio. Bills were passed making it a felony to pretend to be an officer or employee of the government, and to authorize the construction of a railroad bridge across the St. Croix river. After some debate on the education bill, an amendment by Logan, appropriating $15,000,000 the first year and $20,000,000 the third year, was defeated. Another amendment to add $20,000,000 to aid in building school-houses in sparsely populated parts was lost. An amendment was agreed to that the fund should be distributed regardless to race or color. Hear then proposed an amendment to commence with $7,000,000 per annum and give $15,000,000 the third year.

The house of representatives passed the appropriation bill, with an amendment increasing by $25,000 the appropriation for the distribution of seeds and plants. Amendments by the senate to the house bill making it a felony to perjure a government officer or employee were concurred in. The question of forfeiting the Oregon Central land grant was debated for some time, without action.

THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

Substance of the Bill Agreed Upon by the Senate Committee.
WASHINGTON CITY, April 5.—The senate committee on postoffices authorized its chairman, Mr. Hill, to report with favorable recommendations the postal telegraph bill finally agreed upon by the committee. The measure is entitled "A bill to establish a postal telegraph system. It authorizes the proposals of any telegraph company for the transmission of correspondence in accordance with the provisions of the bill, and to make a five-year contract with the company or companies, offering the most favorable propositions. The contracting company or companies are to be allowed four years time within which to construct, acquire, or put in operation, all additional lines necessary to connect all postoffices in places where there are telegraph offices and telegraph service at the time of the passage of the act.

The bill requires the government to provide for the reception and delivery of postal telegraph messages, and also furnish the necessary office room for the contracting companies, and after deducting three cents for each message transmitted, is to pay the remainder to the company. The bill also provides that the companies may establish and maintain at their own expense additional offices, outside of those contemplated by the bill.

The maximum rates fixed by the bill are as follows: When the distance is 1,000 miles or under, 20 cents for twenty words; for every 250 miles or fraction in excess of 1,000 miles an additional rate of 5 cents shall be charged; for telegram directed to be transmitted by night, under 2,000 miles, 15 cents; for greater distances, 25 cents. All words to be counted 10, and for every five additional words or less, one-fifth additional rate.

For newspaper and commercial associations, the rates are: for every 100 hundred words or less, 35 cents, if sent at night, and 75 cents during the day, and at the same two rates for each word in excess of 100; but when copies of the same dispatch are dropped at one or more offices, the rate for each drop shall not exceed 25 cents at night and 50 cents during the day, and at the same two rates for each word in excess of 100 words.

The bill further directs the postmaster general to advertise for sealed proposals to sell existing telegraph lines and franchises to the government, which proposals, if considered fair and reasonable, are to be reported to congress for acceptance.

THE CYCLONE AGAIN.
A Village Destroyed and a Number of Lives Lost.
MUNCIE, Ind., April 2.—A destructive cyclone struck this county, completely wiping Oakville, seven miles south of here, on the Port Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville railroad, out of existence, and doing inestimable damage to life and property.

The track of the cyclone was about a quarter of a mile wide, and everything in its track was destroyed.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 3.—The most destructive and frightful cyclone of the year swept over north Alabama and north Georgia. The bill of the terrible storm can only be surmised, as most of the territory traversed is miles from a railroad. But enough is known to characterize it as the most fatal yet reported.

MUNCIE, Ind., April 4.—A later report from the district affected by Tuesday evening's storm verify all that has been said, save that the loss in the county is much greater than was at first supposed. While Oakville seemed the center of the fury, the loss there from a financial point, is small when compared with the much greater loss sustained by the farmers in the thirty-mile path which cut through that part of the county. The loss to farmers alone is not less than $150,000.

BALTIMORE, April 5.—Advices from the bay as to the extent of the injury wrought by the gale of Wednesday night are meagre, but what little information that has been received shows that the storm was severe and doubtless caused great loss of life and property. The gale still rages from the bases of the old city coffee houses in the vicinity of the old Newgate market site. The loss will aggregate $1,000,000. The favorable direction of the wind saved St. Paul's cathedral.

The Fate of Charlie McComas.
WASHINGTON CITY, April 2.—Information has been received at the headquarters of the army from the United States counsel general at Matamoros concerning the Apaches in northern Mexico, which tends to strengthen the belief that little Charlie McComas was killed, his captors MARCHED UP THE HILL.

And Then Marched Back Again—A Lincoln, Ills., Incident.

LINCOLN, Ills., April 7.—The committee of fifty assembled at the mass-meeting here March 25 to "express their views of the subject of crime" convened in the court house Saturday afternoon, and in a body went to the residence of Orrin A. Carpenter to present him with a copy of the resolutions, among which was "that we demand of the said Carpenter that he leave Logan county without necessary delay."

At the residence Mr. H. L. Pierce, as chairman, advanced to the door and presented the paper refused to receive, and it was laid on the floor at his feet, and in response to his remark: "I do not regard your authority to pass or to present to me any such resolutions, and I refuse to accept them. I have lived a law-abiding citizen in this county for the last thirty years, and don't know any more about the killing of that girl than you do. I shall use my own judgment and discretion as to my future course. I thank you all for your visit." The appearance of the procession upon the streets moving in the direction of the Carpenter residence created much excitement, and no reply was made to Carpenter's refusal to receive the paper, and all is quiet as though the proceeding had not been had. When, where, and how the shocking affair that has so torn up this community will end it is impossible to see or learn. It is reported that the girl was entered against each member of the committee, and it appears from surface indications that the end is far off.

A Barbed-Wire Combination.
ST. LOUIS, April 4.—The Age of Steel publishes full particulars respecting the formation of a company to control the manufacture of barbed wire in the United States. It embraces nearly all the large barbed-wire manufacturers in the country, and was incorporated under the laws of Illinois, last December, with a capital stock of $5,000,000, divided into 20,000 shares, $250,000 of which represent preferred and 12,000 common stock. The preferred stock represents machinery, values, and actual outlays of cash for stock, and upon this an annual dividend of 8 per cent. is guaranteed. The common stock represents the tonnage value of wire which the licensees of the Washburn & Moen company are privileged to make under contract with that company, estimated at $10 a ton. The object of the combination is to maintain remunerative prices for barbed wire, and by having a common purchasing agent to keep the prices of raw materials within proper bounds.

Trip, a popular poet and magazine writer, was shot and mortally wounded by an unknown person, while he was standing on the corner of Main and Sixth streets, on Wednesday evening. He inserted several poems and sketches of a personal nature in his book, greatly to the disgust and chagrin of his enemies. He has been warned several times that he would be killed if he did not leave this part of the country, but he did not heed these threats, and he paid the penalty of his rashness by giving his life. He died Thursday morning. Some excitement prevailed and his murderer will probably be lynched if caught.
